The Navy Department received the following from Commander McLean, of the Cincinnati: "Fort De France, May 19.—Water barge not needed. Ashes and volcanic dust falling thickly here. Now the thick fog; decks covered."

"Petomac is reported to have reached St. Lucia Saturday."

The following statement was given out at the White House to-day:

"On Saturday immediately on receiving Consul Ayme's despatch the President directed the Secretary of State to direct the Navy to report on the condition of affairs in Martinique and St. Vincent. These reports will be made public as soon as received."

The following reply was sent:

BURR LAW FAULTS TOLD BY RIVES.

Clause Designed to Prohibit Brooklyn Taking Suffolk County Water Lets Borough In.

Corporation Counsel Rives to-day made a statement regarding the so-called Burr law, which a week or two ago he declared was unconstitutional. He said in effect that while he believes the Burr law is unconstitutional as far as he can see, it was so drawn that it does not affect Brooklyn anyway, therefore being of no consequence to that borough. He said:

"While I believe and have so advised Commissioner Dougherty, of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, that the Burr law, which prohibits the city from entering Suffolk County for water, is unconstitutional, still there was one point in my opinion to the Commissioner that was entirely overlooked by the newspapers."

"It was this: That even granting that it is constitutional it does not apply to Brooklyn. This fact, I believe, was due to a mistake on the part of the official who drew the bill. The very clause which is designed to shut Brooklyn out is the one that lets that borough in."

"It provides that no city of less than $2,000 or 1,000,000 inhabitants shall be permitted to go into Suffolk for water. That got was passed in 1896. It failed to state the words at the time of the last Federal census, which would have made the clause specific."

"Now, while Brooklyn may not have had over 1,000,000 inhabitants in 1890, she certainly had over 900,000 in 1892, while in the next four years she has grown to at least 1,100,000 population. This is proven by the voting population, by the school children and by the number of deaths."

Gossiping Larry—Sure phy and what is the reason of keeping books, they only mixes wan up!

Back to the yards

What's the use of keeping books?

I am not for Murphy. It is foolish to talk of him for leader.

Murphy Too Weak.

Murphy is personally very popular, but he has a bad record and in addition is a weak, amiable man, totally unfit for such a position as head of Tammany Hall.

It is the opinion of some of Murphy's best friends that he would irreparably injure himself by taking a place for which he has no equipment and which could only result in his humiliation.

Aside from Murphy, the Croker men have no leader. "Tim" Sullivan, with his following, is the strongest factor on the Croker side, but every one except Sullivan himself knows that as a leader he is impossible.

Featherston and Asphalt.

Featherston is the keenest and shrewdest of the Croker guard; but Featherston, like Murphy, could not stand discussion, and realizes it. There is a page of asphalt in his record which it might be awkward to open.

There was some talk of McMahon until ominous whisperings began to be heard about the Third Avenue Street Railway in connection with certain Grand Jury proceedings. McMahon has awakened the bitter resentment of men who would go far to injure him, which he may discover later on.

Martin Declines.

On the anti-Croker side, no figure stands out. James J. Martin absolutely refuses to take the leadership. He does not want to identify himself with a faction, and thoroughly realizes the folly of attempting to rule with only a bare majority of leaders behind him.

It is simply fighting because his enemies forced him to fight or quit, and he is not a quitter. His hands are up and he is banging away at every fellow that is whacking him.

Committee to Lead.

If Croker continues in his present attitude and refuses personally to assume command the leaders will be forced to come to Carroll's plan of a committee, probably named by both factions.

did Capt. Titus's men connect her with the Chambers robbery. Kirwin was fined $10 and the woman was discharged.

When Leonard returned to Headquarters and reported some one suggested that perhaps there might be some connection between the two Elises. Further search was made for her, and fortunately for Leonard, he and his fellow worker, Play, found her.

She refused to admit or deny her implication in the Chambers theft, but this morning Mrs. Chambers and her father ex-Mayor Smith, 215, identified her positively as the missing "upstairs girl."

In response to messages sent out by Capt. Titus to all persons who have reported recently that they were robbed by servant girls, three women appeared at Police Headquarters and identified the prisoner as the girl who had robbed them or tried to, at various times since April 1.

The girl was sent over to the Jefferson Market Court, and was remanded until to-morrow in order to give the detectives time to look further into her record.

Within five minutes the work of the tornado was done and those who fortunately escaped ran to the work of rescue. The survivors at Goliad are too dazed to estimate the property loss, but a strip of the town two blocks wide and one mile long was swept clean. The damage is very heavy.

The injured are being cared for by physicians and nurses who arrived on special trains late last night.
